Billy Hello Ptaah, dear friend. You are here already. You let me know that you want to talk about the rampantly spreading corona disease again today because you want to say a few more things about it. Actually, we had wanted to refrain from doing so some time ago, but the whole thing made it necessary to say more about it, because the governors are neither clever enough nor capable of their office to do everything that is necessary and right to get to the bottom of the rampantly spreading disease and put an end to it.

Ptaah That is right, but nevertheless I want to say something again, after which we really should no longer mention this matter, as we have already said once. But now I have found a record in my father's annals in which he wrote, on the one hand, the following under the date of Sunday, April 4, 1948, which he explained to you:

"Eduard, in the future you will continue to compose your own prophecies and predictions about all the happenings and occurrences that we have fathomed together far into the future and send them to the public media all over the world, namely as before with the help of your teachers, the priest and the professor. But this will change in the next millennium, as you have seen and know. Everything will already begin to change in just three decades because, as you have seen in the future, a digital and electronic technology will emerge and open up to you the possibility of using this new technology and spreading all your knowledge in a worldwide form by means of it."

It is then recorded that my father Sfath instructed you to write a letter to all governments and public media in Europe, which you then also did on Saturday, July 7, 1949. After that, however, you explored with my father the next 6 decades from 1970 to 2030 and learned how, why and by what means the viral rampantly spreading corona disease will arise and then further develop over the next decades to become the rampantly spreading disease. As my father wrote, this would first arise in mild forms, so to mutatingly change itself in the course of time, as well as to be changed by researchers who were deliberately, under threat of death, commissioned by Mao Zedong in agreement with the vengeful American ..., to begin their evil work, as it also came about. However, I cannot understand why you want to keep the name of this man secret from the public, because he has died, just like Mao Zedong, before the plan of revenge that the two of them had devised together could be implemented, but which is now being fulfilled for them posthumously, so to speak, but not only in the USA as planned, rather worldwide.

However, from that which is further written in my father's notes, it emerges that in China, in a secret laboratory in the city of Guangzhou, a virus would be created which would escape from a laboratory for the first time in 1976 as a result of carelessness. This virus would mutate several times until the new millennium and remain undetected by all research, only to cause the first recognisable outbreak of the rampantly spreading disease in the first three years of the new century. However, in a secret laboratory in a Chinese city called Wuhan, this would in turn undergo further mutation through laboratory work, resulting in the formation of a new type of virus. This new virus, my father noted, would then be extremely contagious and would attack the cell system of the human beings, as well as directing itself at certain mammals and animals, as soon as it was released. And, as he noted, at the beginning of 2019 it would also come to another mutation result, namely through a laboratory accident wherethrough the new dangerous virus would affect all laboratory workers who would gradually die through this infection and the resulting rampantly spreading disease, but would still carry the rampantly spreading disease outside. This would then last from the month of January until December, before the deadly virus would be detected through causal foreordination in December 2019, but it would then still take around two months before the relevant information was published and the public informed.

Furthermore, my father noted in his annals that when the new virus becomes openly recognisable and this proves to be an extremely dangerous, deadly, rampantly spreading disease, it can no longer be contained. He also noted that before the outbreak of the first recognisable rampantly spreading disease shortly after the turn of the millennium – by which SARS was probably meant – the virus would not be recognised as a special virus for more than two decades. This was regardless of the fact that this virus, which was the first to escape unnoticed from the secret laboratory as early as 1976, mixed undetected with the original so-called porcine influenza subtype H1N1 virus and was highly contagious.

The first appearance of this new virus, which integrated itself into the influenza virus, mutated from then on together with influenza viruses without being noticed by the terrestrial specialists and thus was not recognised, probably because such processes were unknown to them, which according to our findings is still the case today. As a result of the non-recognition of this mutative type of virus, in all those years during which the virus underwent further mutations, only the corresponding type of flu was treated, as we were able to fathom according to our research.

On the one hand, my father Sfath described this in his notes as such, while on the other hand, he also stated that the rampantly spreading disease itself would – during the following two decades from the time it was first released – mutate to such an extent that the first open rampantly spreading disease would emerge shortly after the turn of the millennium. This, he noted, would then change through further mutations and cause the beginning of a major rampantly spreading disease from the beginning of 2019, which would, however, only become recognisable in December 2019, and then from 2020 would begin to spread very rapidly throughout the world, mutate further and become even more dangerous, causing many deaths over a long period of time. So much for that which is listed in my father's annals, but what you are...

Billy All right, you do not have to say anything else.

Ptaah But ...

Billy No, really not. On the one hand, the whole of that which you have mentioned from the annals of Sfath does not get into the boastful and stubborn heads of the entire terrestrial 'elite' of physicians, virologists, epidemiologists, other scientific experts and greats, because they have no knowledge whatsoever of such mutation occurrences; consequently, they will reject everything outright and present it as fantasy from the outset. In particular, it will be the virologists, epidemiologists and other related 'experts' who will put their feet down against everything that Sfath has written and that you have now openly mentioned. And they will do this because, as a result of their corresponding scientific training, they regard themselves as all-knowing ones and gods and can neither imagine, accept nor allow anything other than that which corresponds to that which is known, proven and what they have learned so far, as well as their hypotheses. On the other hand, additionally they will not only reject Sfath's statements and thus also everything that you have revealed, but will also call you and me liars, falsifiers of the truth and slanderers of the truth, just as all our traditional antagonists will do, as will all the simple-minded know-it-alls of low intelligentum, troublemakers, mavericks, that is to say, non-thinkers, conspiracy theorists, all calumniators and other stupid and crazy ones who are inaccessible to intellect and rationality.

And all this also rubs off on the politicians who believingly hang on the lips of the virologists and epidemiologists and so forth, let themselves be guided by them and even support them in their delusion of self-divinity. Unfortunately, this is also the case in Switzerland where in this regard particularly the majority of those in power stand out, namely those of the National Council and of the Council of States and, in the highest position, the Federal Council, namely especially those women and men who stand out as being of low intelligentum, clumsy and pompous when they have to or should have to inform the population of all the necessities concerning the rampantly spreading corona disease. As a rule, however, nothing clever comes out of this, but only inadequate and vacuous sham information through which nothing concrete is explained, rather only the population is irritated with big speeches of low intelligentum, while these wannabe-representatives of the people make themselves look ridiculous by trying to shine.

As far as the majority of the Federal Council, the National Council and the Council of States is concerned, as we have been able to see all the time over the last few months through their television appearances, they believingly hang onto the lips of the virological and epidemiological super-gods, who, as the actual advisors of the governors with regard to the rampantly spreading corona disease, are the ones who effectively govern, because the governors do exactly what is pre-chewed for them by the 'gods'. And the majority of the government has a special flair for this, namely because, due to their own incompetence, they surround themselves with government advisors, according to whose advice they then govern – wherethrough it is not the governors who govern but, clearly seen, the advisors – who are paid extraordinarily expensively with tax money. All this happens precisely because the governors are also in bondage to these advisors and have no governance skills of their own. And that is that, and if we then take a closer look at the intellect and rationality of the minority together with the majority of the governors of all traditions, it becomes clear that the minority has no chance whatsoever to bring its considerations, advice, cognitions, evaluations, ideas, views, opinions and their knowledge as well as their experience, perspective and their intelligentum to bear. If the minority wants to stand up and put forward its intellect-based and rationality-based considerations and so forth, it is simply completely disregarded, considered imbecilic or simply shouted down and put out of action.

Not only are the virologists and epidemiologists the great new gods, saints, stars and the ones directing the government, that is to say, the actual mighty ones of the governments in connection with and as a result of the rampantly spreading corona disease. Also the god-belief and thus the irrational teachings of the religions play a major role in this because the majority of the Federal Council and the National Council as well as the Council of States blindly believe, 'God will surely see to it that the rampantly spreading disease will end again and everything will be fine, because god loves the human beings.' As a result, god's barns, houses of god, prayer temples and ascension launching pads can, should and must be kept open so that they can be filled for sermons and prayers with believers and they can be infected en masse with the coronavirus, fall ill from it and possibly die.

Every religion, every sect and every belief in an imaginary and therefore non-existent god, or otherwise in an alleged higher might that rules and directs everything, lives and exists, on the one hand, solely from the low intelligentum – which corresponds to nothing other than non-thinking – of the believing human beings. On the other hand, every religion, every sect and every belief in an imaginary and therefore non-existent god lives on the promise of lies given by religions that god, the lord, will reward the good behaviour of the human beings in any case if they pray diligently to him, that is to say, if he himself – or in the case of Christianity, his alleged son – is worshipped and idolised. This is the case, just as god also shows mercy when one diligently visits the house of god, when one, depending on one's faith, kneels on the penance board or presses one's face into the dirt, and when 'juicy' large sums are 'donated' as a mite as often as possible, so that the religious leader-chaps of all kinds can 'make a packet' at the expense of the believers and lead a good life.

If we now look at the trappings since the outbreak of the rampantly spreading corona disease from a normal-intellectual-rational and thus not from a delusional-belief-based point of view, and thereby eliminate every religious and sectarian compulsion to believe, then the fact of reality and its truth can be seen, which frighteningly and clearly proves that every religious and sectarian delusional belief and its promises are built on lies, false promises and calumniations. And this shows up especially clearly from the beginning of the rampantly spreading corona disease to the present day, because since the beginning of the rampantly spreading disease a life-gloom has spread to all human beings, contrary to the lie of belief that Immanuel, alias 'Jesus', is supposed to have said: "I am the light of life", but which he never said, rather: "Truth alone is the light of life."

If, in any religion or sect that necessarily believes in a god, son of god, in other deities and heavenly rulers and so forth, their promises of salvation are considered, then since the outbreak of the rampantly spreading corona disease the whole god-belief delusion can be seen particularly clearly; namely that the earthlings' god-delusion and their belief-conforming behaviour has so far brought no protection against the rampantly spreading corona disease, offers no protection and will never provide any protection. Also, since time immemorial there has never been any protection from disease by a delusional fantasy figure, a god, god the father, creator and similar rationally-out-of-control imaginary creatures of any religion or sect. Quite on the contrary; since time immemorial, all believers in god have been particularly guilty that deadly rampantly spreading diseases were able to spread and become rampant and even millions of human beings died as a result. This was especially because they indulged in their god-delusion belief and therethrough provoked and spread the rampantly spreading diseases themselves, which they were not conscious of due to their low intelligentum. What the god-believers did in this respect was that they gathered in the ascension launching pads and thereby infected each other with rampantly spreading disease viruses. Thus they gathered in their so-called houses of god such as churches, temples, chapels, synagogues and mosques and so forth, where, since time immemorial, as a result of the gathering together of god-delusion-believers, deadly viruses spread particularly well and quickly, cause rampantly spreading diseases and therethrough can trigger epidemics as well as pandemics which bring death, misery, Leid (Leid, Leiden, nouns. According to Billy, 'Leid' has the meaning of a 'psychical-moral, negative state' and 'Leiden' means 'ununderstanding, misunderstanding and so on, which affects the moral and psyche'. 'Leid' and 'Leiden' means that the event affects the psyche and therefore is not to be translated with 'suffering' or 'affliction' which pertain more to the physical body.)/suffering, sorrow and ruin.

The principles of god-delusion-belief have not changed since time immemorial until today and will continue to exist for a very long time and will bring very much terribleness to the world of god-believers, while, however, all those who are bound to the real reality, truth, as well as to the intellect and rationality, will also be dragged into it and will come to harm in equal measure. Therefore it will be through the low intelligentum of various irresponsible and incompetent governors – especially the god-believers – that in the new upcoming lockdowns that will come next month and continue into next year, as I have seen together with Sfath, the god barns will not be blocked in the long term in order to neutralise these spreading centres of rampantly spreading diseases. But, unfortunately, it will be as it has always been, because the god-delusion believers – and these are the giant majority of Earth's humanity – will not understand that there is no god, god the father and no creator who protects it or could protect it from the rampantly spreading corona disease. Therefore, the human beings have always been helpless when they relied on a non-existent god. And also today they are so helpless and will be in the future also. Thus, in the future, the human beings who will be most affected and suffer the most harm will always be the god-believers. This is quite especially because they, as god-believers, are alienated from the reality and the truth and do not recognise the truth and do not acknowledge that no god will ever bring help, because they cannot understand that a god will never stand by their side and will not help them, rather that they must give themselves this help. That is why the rampantly spreading corona disease hits the god-delusion believers much harder than other human beings who are turned towards the reality and the truth and are free from god-believingness. The fact is, however, that unavoidably, especially due to the god-delusion belief of the majority of humanity, by the end of this year, only officially, about 2 million human beings worldwide will die of the rampantly spreading corona disease and almost 80 million will fall ill and suffer long-term forms of damage, which, however, will not be the end of the whole thing. Thereby also the emergence and experiencing of fear of the future, insecurity of life, as well as suicide and anger and so forth, will do nothing to finish off the rampantly spreading corona disease, because only intellect and rationality and the right action can help to control the rampantly spreading disease to such an extent that it subsides and dissolves to such an extent that it is no longer a daily threat. It will never be possible to eradicate the virus, however, because it will remain under the surface like any other virus, and indeed only as long as humanity itself is concerned about keeping it banned. It is still raging, however, and will be even more so in the coming time, because the low intelligentum of the incompetent governors has made them act in an absolutely reckless form and will continue to do so. This is in addition to the fact that ¼ of the so-called civilised – in reality uncivilised – world population simple-mindedly, with low intelligentum and rowdily, is making the whole thing worse and will continue to do so, as well as denying the rampantly spreading disease. Already some time ago a complete loss of control has emerged from the low intelligentum of those in power and the querulous masses, wherethrough the rampantly spreading corona disease crisis is now building up to a height that can be brought under control only through prudent, uncompromising measures; consequently, all possible means must be considered and enforced against further spreading and further raging. If this does not happen in the coming month and also thereafter, the corona death toll would become an ultimate catastrophe and rise to 500 million.

Well, I have not forgotten that I furthermore want to mention the so-called medical experts, because, at the time of the rampantly spreading corona disease, they also have a great influence on the governors around the world, therefore also on the Council of States, the National Council and the Federal Council here in Switzerland. In addition, the majority of these persons have their heads filled with the knowledge or unknowledge of other scientists, as well as by the dubious theories of strange researchers who act as economic representatives, some of whom not-knowingly criticise everything in a simple-minded form of low intelligentum, while nevertheless, however, various national and state councillors as well as federal councillors blindly follow the recommendations of these so-called researchers, which shows serious, malicious consequences.

Ptaah Everything that you explain corresponds to all that which cannot be disputed, but which will be disputed by all truth-opponents, know-alls and those without intellect and rationality, as well as by those of low intelligentum and those weak of intelligentum, for whom the cultivation of healthy and logical thoughts is impossible as a result of their belief in a deity.

Billy Unfortunately, this will not change until the distant future. What we should talk about now, however, is the source, that is to say, the origin of the rampantly spreading corona disease, because in this regard the experts blather all kinds of nonsense out into the world. It seems to me like prehistory and palaeontology, where certain hypotheses are downright ridiculous because the facts of reality are quite different from the imaginations.

Ptaah About which, however, we do not have to talk. From our point of view and according to our research, due to carelessness the first rampantly spreading corona disease arose and was released as the first virus preform as early as the 1970s, but then escaped again in 1981 from a laboratory in Guangzhou and began to spread. Since then, according to our very precise counts, this form of rampantly spreading disease has claimed around 14.71 million lives all over the world until today, although the entire science of medicine, virology and epidemiology and so forth, up to this day, has never been able to identify the real cause of death of countless human beings. This old virus, that is to say, first virus, mutated further in the course of 2019 and changed into the well-known Covid19, that is to say, 'Corona virus disease-2019', which was previously, for 4 decades, wrongly assessed and treated as flu effect and other diseases, and from which nearly 15 million people have died so far whose disease was not recognised as rampantly spreading corona disease. And what I still have to say about this refers to the fact that this death toll also includes the so-called dark figure of the rampantly spreading corona disease deaths which have occurred since the officially recognised outbreak of the rampantly spreading corona disease last year, precisely in December 2019, up to 6 days ago on the 31st of October. And the fact that this rampantly spreading disease will slowly spread into a pandemic and become rampant worldwide and will now claim millions of victims is something that you two, my father Sfath and you, already found out in 1949. And after your letter of the 7th of July, 1949, only a few days later, on Sunday 12th of July, 1949, you wrote another letter about this, of which 1463 copies were then sent to all governments, radio stations and many authorities and organisations throughout the world by Father Zimmermann.

Billy Now that you mention it, I remember. The Horatin and the Methodist sect also cottoned on to this and always scolded me for it when I passed by the premises of the sect on my way in Soli. However, what I can say about that, which you have just mentioned, will unfortunately also be the case today – with all our information concerning the rampantly spreading corona disease and the 'Teaching of the Truth, Teaching of the Creation-energy, Teaching of Life', which we publish on the internet — that, as usual with the earthlings, only a few will turn to these. There will only be very few human beings who are partial to the truth as well as the intellect and rationality, who have been able to free themselves from the delusional belief in an imaginary god and will pay attention to everything, while the majority, who have fallen for the god-belief, prefer to hope that they will be helped due to their diligent prayers and supplications to their non-existent god.

Ptaah What you say – how do you always say it – makes sense. However, what you and my father Sfath have experienced together has shown you how inept, irresponsible and incapable all leaders of all nations worldwide will effectively be in the present time, and indeed not only with regard to the raging rampantly spreading corona disease crisis. That is one thing, and the other is that everything that has been discussed between us so far and also published on the internet corresponds exactly to that which you wrote at the time and which was sent out into the world, however, even then it brought no response whatsoever, as is officially also the case today. It is true, as we have ascertained for some time, that certain persons of various organisations and offices and so forth – if I may say it in this way – take up these and those important things from your and my contact reports, explanations and information and use them for their purposes, their office and for their personal advantage and so forth, but as a rule they are so sunk in the craters of discouragement that they cannot stand by it coming from us and pass off everything they say, decree or do as their personal intelligentum.

Billy This is unfortunately the case, one the one hand; on the other hand – and this is also possible – their uncourageous behaviour can be based on pathological unwillingness.

Ptaah That can be, of course, but as you always say, it is good if the important information that is given brings benefit and success. This is exactly the case when it comes to leading peoples, because especially in this respect it would have been the duty of the leaders of all nations to take the right steps already at the beginning of the rampantly spreading corona disease in order to prevent an epidemic and the subsequent pandemic. However, in this matter, all the leaders of all the nations on Earth have, as a result of their inability to lead, allowed the whole of the rampantly spreading disease to become a crisis. All of them have not fulfilled the necessity of their duty and will not do so in the near future, which will especially in the coming weeks still claim very many infections and deaths worldwide. And this will be the case both in the United States of America, in Brazil and in South America, as well as in Europe, where the rampantly spreading disease will claim a particularly large number of victims due to the irresponsibility, inability and lack of prudence of the governors as well as the querulous part of the population, as you wrote in the aforementioned letter of 1949, which my father enclosed as a typewritten original in his annals; therefore I do not have to translate it.

About that I would like to mention in passing that I did not know that you already had a mechanical device for writing at that time, which you needed, however, because of all your work with regard to prophecies and predictions ...

Billy My apologies. You really could not have known that. Thanks to Father Zimmermann I was able to learn how to use a typewriter. When I moved away from Büüli I gave this machine to my old friend, Ernst Meierhofer, for safekeeping. He probably still has it today. Unfortunately, I have not heard from him for a long time. But since I am talking about hearing, what can you tell me about the rampantly spreading disease in Europe?

Ptaah The populations of Spain, Germany, Italy and Switzerland will be the main victims of the incompetent governors and the fallible part of the querulous populations who will become culpable for this. At present, there are only a few talented ones in terms of intellect and rationally to be found in the governments who are conscious of the danger and the excesses of the rampantly spreading corona disease and are therefore making an effort to do what is right and necessary, in which case, however, they have to fight against the irrationality of many of their undiscerning associates and against the querulous part of the populations. In Germany only the man Söder in Bavaria stands out in this respect, in Austria the man Kurz, while in your homeland, Switzerland, as also in other European states, there are absolutely no governors who would be capable of fulfilling their duty and taking the necessary measures against the rampantly spreading disease and enforcing this in the willing parts of the populations as well as in the querulous part. As we can see, the Swiss leadership in particular stands out in a negative way with block heads, if I may say so with your manner of speaking, because none of the women and men in this government – who have the duty of fighting the rampantly spreading disease – are capable of their office, therefore they are neither able to recognise the necessary measures against the rampantly spreading disease, work them out, seize them, decree them nor have them carried out.

Billy The whole nonsense of ordering short-term and only partial lockdowns for 1, 2 or 3 weeks and then relaxing or lifting everything again already borders on a state of idiocy, because after a lockdown has been lifted everything continues in the same form and therefore the whole mess is made even worse. But if the governors lack the necessary intelligentum, which today is still erroneously called 'intelligence', then those in front of the populations and peoples who are incapable cannot get to the crux of the matter, because they are neither open to consequential thought processes, that is to say, logical thought processes, nor can they foresee what inevitably emerges and results from certain actions and modes of behaviour. And since these governors are so incompetent, they squander taxpayers' money on 'advisors' who are supposed to give them advice, but who in reality also suffer from a horrendous lack of intelligentum and consequently are neither able to think logically, nor are they foresighted or even forward-thinking.

But, coming back to the rampantly spreading disease: if all around the world all the governmental dingbats, all governmental 'council' airheads and blockheads had done the right thing from the very beginning when the rampantly spreading disease broke out and grew into an epidemic, then no pandemic would have arisen, rather the whole thing could have run its course within a short time of 2 to 3 months. Therethrough countless people would not have been infected by the rampantly spreading disease so far and would not have died from it and then the rampantly spreading disease would not have begun to run rampant and claim many thousands of human lives, as will now be the case from this month onwards. Many human beings have become depressed as a result of the rampantly spreading disease, just as suicides have increased greatly, but this is officially denied. In addition, it is claimed that the spread of the rampantly spreading disease will not increase any further, which will be exactly the opposite, however, especially here in Europe, as I have observed together with Sfath. In the future the whole thing will increase enormously and now even more so with mass infections and deaths, which will drive the whole thing up into the millions. As I have seen with Sfath in the future, since the effective first emergence of the precursor of the rampantly spreading disease some 40 years ago, it has continued to mutate and develop further, as it was also developed further in laboratories, to then break out last December as the rampantly spreading corona disease.

If it had not been for all this and it had not finally come about as the rampantly spreading corona disease, then it would never have come about that the stupid governors had come up with the crazy idea of irresponsibly incurring enormous national debts in order to provide emergency aid money to companies, corporations, sports enterprises, entertainment enterprises and all kinds of other enterprises and organisations and so forth. Also otherwise no debts would have come about in the populations and businesses, enterprises and so forth and would not continue to accumulate from now on. Due to the incompetence of the governors however, I know that from the time with Sfath when we together ... well, you know, therefore I do not have to say anything more about it. This fact, however, cannot simply just be cleared up, because the whole thing in this regard will escalate this month until December to such an extent that even in the woodwork of various banks it will effectively crack, because the taxpayers' money will be squandered on government loans, which in turn will put the states into enormous debt. And the taxpayers will have to pay again for this national debt, which is not enough, because the descendants of today's taxpayers will also have to pay, and after them, their descendants, and after them, their descendants, and so on. If, however, imbeciles who have no clue with regard to the ins and outs of governing, squat in the governments, then it is not surprising that the nonsensical national debt-making by the incapable governments will drive up the mountains of national debt to such an extent that one fine day a collapse will occur, as – let us say "can" – also happen with the terrestrial humankind if it copulates itself into its own demise and thereby exterminates itself, as it has often done with some peoples since time immemorial. This is unfortunately the case with the earthlings, because from time immemorial, despite enormous self-generated and natural catastrophes, they have not become wiser or more modest, which is still the case today. Even if it is said that 'adversity is the school of wisdom', this does not apply to humanity, especially not to that gigantic majority that has fallen prey to a god-delusion belief. This 'adversity is the school of wisdom' can effectively only be understood and thus implemented by a few human beings in whom the intellectum necessarily functions correctly and well, which unfortunately, however, is obviously not the case with the majority of the earthlings.

Ptaah You are not exactly making friends with that, even if it is as you say.

Billy I do not want to either, because I only want to tell the truth. And if a human being recognises this as such, then he/she knows that it is effectively as I say, because then his/her intelligentum is so far developed that he/she also uses it. Therefore I do not have to make an effort to be hypocritical and make friends when I tell the truth. If, however, some intend to hate me or do so, then that is their beer, which they must drink themselves or let go to waste, because I cannot drink it for them.

Ptaah You always find a word to explain something in a form. Well ...

Billy So that is good for me, because to me ... well, I am glad if we do not have to talk any further about it, because there is no use in the whole thing. This applies equally to the rampantly spreading disease, because talking about it further will not bring it to a standstill, rather only doing the right thing will. You and I know what must be done, but no one will listen to us, that is certain. What should be done falls on the deaf ears and dulled senses of those in government, just as it does with that ¼ of the population that is of low intelligentum and simple-minded and prefers praying to a non-existent god and pleading senselessly for help rather than taking matters into their own hands, thinking for themselves and acting correctly, whereby they additionally demonstrate stupidly, emulate inciting anarchy-low-lives, as well as querulous thinkers, conspiracy theorists and know-it-alls and idiots, as well as others who are alienated from the truth and the world.

Ptaah Yes, also with that you are saying that which I think too. But now, Eduard, there is this matter ... that we must discuss. ...

However, about this, silence must now be maintained.

Billy Yes, now that you mention it, but already when I was a boy I simply forgot it completely, because already at an early age silence became a secular act for me, that is to say, a uniqueness of something very extraordinary, which became a way of life of honour and dignity for me, namely in relation to myself, as well as in relation to every human being, all living things, the laws of nature, all ecosystems, the nature and its fauna and flora, the universe, as well as in relation to everything that is creative. There is no more to be said about this.

Ptaah Well, then I now have the following, which is also confidential, after which I have to go ...
