

Long-term Effects of Corona

Excerpt from the 766th contact of Saturday, 20th of February, 2021

Billy ... As I know from Ptaah, because I asked him 4 years ago to clarify the situation between husband and wife regarding domestic violence, consequently clarifications were made on this by you Plejaren, which revealed that in Europe alone ... in marital relationships 28% of all women are beaten, thrashed, abused and treated with physical and psychical Gewalt by their 'spouses' and not infrequently even murdered. So that was 4 years ago. Today, however, I guess there is probably a great deal more to it ...

Ptaah This is actually the case, as I know, because we recently made new observations regarding this, which however you cannot know, since I did not tell you. The current number, referring to Europe alone, has unfortunately increased to 36.2 percent in the populations as a result of the rampantly spreading corona disease and the consequences of house arrest.

Billy ... You can also explain what Sfath and I discovered about 70 years ago, that at the Corona time the true lousy personality and character of many governors and politicians will also be revealed, as well as their belief in god and Christ in the context of love for the next one, honesty, honour, dignity and morality, if, to the detriment of the populations and at the expense of their lack of financial means, they secretly do dirty business dealings with means of protection against the rampantly spreading disease and therethrough enrich themselves. It is true that this will also be done on a daily basis by criminals – which will also include companies and corporations – who, at the taxpayers' expense, will exploit the supreme foolishness of those in government who, as a result of their inability to think and govern, believe that companies, individual businesses and corporations etc. must be supported by state funds. This is precisely because those in government with their low intelligentum (In contact 750, Billy explains, "...these days practically no longer anybody knows that 'intelligence' is only the intellect-memory, but does not describe the cognition and also not the intelligentum, nor the information processing of the human being. That is why the so-called IQ is erroneously and foolishly 'measured' with the intellectual memory, namely with the term 'intelligence' – which we have already spoken about before. This is because 'intelligence' in reality has nothing to do with the 'intelligentum' and thus has nothing to do with intellect, rationality, knowledge and absolutely nothing to do with the extent of knowing the general performance capacity related to the intellectum." Please see contact 750 to understand more.) do not know what really has to be done, as a result of which they will fuel the incidence of fraud and push it to unprecedented heights by their throwing out thousand-millions at criminals.

But what we could talk about briefly, without mentioning the whole drama about the rampantly spreading corona disease as well as the low intelligentum of those in government and the rowdies of the populations – who are responsible for many deaths to be mourned – are these questions here, because someone asks why all the responsible scientists cannot find out how the long-term consequences of the rampantly spreading corona disease come about, which arise in a certain part of the 'recovered' after the rampantly spreading disease has been survived. Also in this fax here it is being asked how come the scientists, who are deemed to be the predestined of medicine etc., do not find the reason for occurring long-term consequences and why they couldn't tell anything about what these would be like and how long they would last, etc. Also here is a question about the what and how about information regarding the mutations etc., since it would be of importance for the people to be informed about this, which however is neither being done by those imperious as well as stupidly prattling on government halfwits all around the world – so it really says here, as you can read – ... (who) equally would do nothing, in order to enlighten the population, as also not both the main body of the virologists etc. and of the medical profession. And since you with your numerous learned occupations have been trained as a doctor, chemist, physician and virologist etc., I think that it would be highly appropriate if you would at one point explain the necessary, because our earthling 'experts' and those in government are obviously incapable of it, but rather are all mouth and no trousers on television, the radio and in the newspapers and journals etc. and assume an air of importance. And if you give explanations, which I hope you will, that you ...

Ptaah Yes, I will explain a few things. ...

Billy ... What the woman is also asking refers to how long the corona viruses survive on objects, etc., if you want to say a word about that, then that would really be something for you.

With regard to the 'survival' of viruses, I have yet to mention that the woman also asked me about this by telephone, hence I have explained to her that on the one hand viruses of any kind are no life forms, which she has not understood though. Therefore, I had to explain everything better to her.

First, I explained that viruses are no life-forms, but merely organic structures, and consequently cannot die and can only be dissolved and destroyed. The woman has not yet understood this, because she believed that 'organic' means something like life, since all life-forms have organs. Unfortunately, however, I am not a scholar and also not a scientist in this regard, therefore, I was only able to explain what I learned from Sfath in the 1940s and have also learned some more on my own, namely that organic structures do not correspond to anything other than a natural product of organic chemistry. And this says, so I explained to her, that the 'organic' of the structure must not be understood as life, but as a chemical element, consequently the whole is not a living organism, but only a structure. However, the woman did not understand this either, namely what a structure is, thus I explained that a structure corresponds to a proper assembly, composition, construction, respectively a certain order, therefore, in that case precisely in chemistry, as it also applies to everything else though, such as for a logicalness of thoughts, a work, action or speech, etc. Then I explained that the whole thing basically also includes any compounds of carbon with other elements, of which – as I still know from the teaching of Sfath in the 1940s – more than 30 million are known to you Plejaren in this connection. But, as I recall and which I also told the woman, Sfath said back then that all building elements of life belong to the whole as well, whereby carbon is of absolutely crucial importance to all life on Earth and absolutely indispensable to all life-forms. If I remember correctly, as I also explained to the woman, carbon is indispensably integrated into a global cycle of organic and inorganic compounds, whereby, among other things, it also gets into plants and all living creatures in general from the air, all of which, down to the tiniest organisms, use the carbon for energy generation since basically down to the tiniest life form all of them are equipped with an organic carbon cycle, which alone ensures life and the viability to live.

If the forms of carbon on Earth are scrutinised carefully, then many millions of different organic compounds can be found, which, as I have already said, are indispensable for the functioning of all living organisms, as well as being of great importance in the carbon cycle in death after their passing away.

Basically, I explained to the woman what I still know about organic structures that exist as lifeless organic molecules, just simply as various natural elements, such as halogens, which of course she couldn't do anything with as well, consequently, I tried to explain that these somehow arise from a chemical element, from a yellowish green gas, which has a pungent smell, from which salts and in particular fluorine and thus bromine, iodine and chlorine as well as, among other things, also a rare radioactive element are formed, the name of which I couldn't remember and which has not come back to my mind even to this day. What I also explained was that halogens are highly reactive non-metals, as well as that the basis for the diversity of individual molecules with regard to carbon are often hydrogen, sulphur, nitrogen and oxygen, which form the actual chemical structure and functional groups. What I still remembered from Sfath – what I then remembered to say – was that there are millions of forms of organic compounds of all sizes, whereby these organic carbon compounds have an extremely extensive diversity, and in fact much more numerous than all the compounds together that contain no carbon. Overall, they form the ultimate building element of life for all living organisms, i.e. also for humans and all life forms in general. They also store the energy as well as all information that is inherited and, in the event of death during the process of passing away, is transferred to the environment as a whole and is absorbed and stored by it entirely. And with this I was at my wit's end. ...

So now it would be your turn, my friend, to answer the question about the lifespan of the corona virus, when it is deposited on objects, etc.

Ptaah We have talked about this before, and nothing has changed since then according to our research findings. But nevertheless, I can mention the information given at that time once again: On hard and smooth objects, corona viruses can remain active for up to 48 or 52 hours before they decay and dissolve. At the most, they can remain active for up to 96 hours, if they fall on accordingly suitable surfaces. If they are able to take hold in a host material suitable for them, they can outlast centuries and millennia remaining active, only to break out again in the distant future due to some circumstances.

Billy Nice prospects.

Ptaah ... There is nothing that will be able to be changed about that through all the times to come. What the woman is writing and asking in this letter is justified, on which I think I can also give a briefly summarised answer to everything, such as to this question here regarding pets, about which I can state that we Plejaren do not keep animals, no creatures and no other living beings of any kind in our direct living area, if such life forms are kept at all, which, however, according to our directives, cannot be the case in areas of towns and villages due to hygienic and health reasons for the inhabitants, but only in settlements, as you once called them, where, depending on the kind or species, they can live in special enclosures offering sufficient space, or also in the open, where they can live in a nearly natural form or nature-like. Small cages and enclosures, which do not offer a freedom-equivalent movement space to the genera and species, are not permitted according to the directives.

Billy So when you are talking about pets, then we may compare this on Earth with dogs and cats, rats, birds and various other living beings, which, however, as a general rule – except cats and dogs that can go outdoors – are kept in living rooms etc. in far too small cages and become mentally ill, which of course is not being recognised by the owners of these creatures. This, because they have absolutely no knowledge regarding the psyche of living beings – such as birds, hamsters, lizards and blindworms, etc. – which they keep in their homes in far too small cages, breeding cages or too small enclosures.

What probably should be explained with regard to the settlements, as I have called them, is that they are individual properties which, according to earthly scales, are 100 x 100 metres and thus about one hectare in size. Although, this is not accurate, since it is several metres more according to your Plejaren measurement, but on the whole, one hectare can be assumed, whereby on this site, at any rate, one dwelling should be situated, with each having only one family residing in it and the land of which – including field, meadow and garden – is also being cultivated. At least that is how I saw it and how it was explained to me.

Ptaah ... Also, what you have often said is correct and corresponds to the effective indisputable facts regarding the national leaders and the medical and virological professionals, etc. You have already explained to me at the very beginning of the rampantly spreading disease, what you and my father Sfath had learned in the 1940s about this, like that this corona virus shows specific peculiarities, before we even had a clue about it ourselves and only came to the same results through our research as you have told me and knew from my father Sfath from the 1940s and 1950s. On the one hand, these were your explanations regarding the long-term consequences, on the other hand, they concerned the impulse depositions that lead to various kinds of late effects. It was only through your details that we were inspired to carry out the corresponding research which in the course of time confirmed what you have explained. ... You, Eduard, dear friend, know about the whole thing, therefore I just want to take it up a little bit – although you have already explained it some time ago and it can also be read on your website – in order to respond briefly to these questions here, which I actually should not do. Since these persons who raise these questions do not seem to have read all of the conversations you have retrieved and written down on your website, I will briefly answer a few things regarding those various questions.

As to the late effects, which arise after a recovery from the rampantly spreading corona disease, first of all it must be understood that, according to our research cognitions about this strange human-made rampantly spreading disease, an effective and complete recovery is absolutely impossible, but only equals an apparent recovery. This is because the corona virus does not only exist as such, but also, quite unusually, as an indestructible impulse unit, that is to say, as a fundamental physical quantity which, as an impulse object, displays peculiar characteristic states of motion. This impulse object holds within itself a self-contained system of a constant organic-energetic impulse set of various factors, and these correspond to pure triggers in relation to disturbances, which affect the regular physical and psychical block of the entire human organism, which has a subjectively and objectively perceptible negative impact on the performance and well-being of the human being and thus illnesses inevitably occur, which can be of various nature, as the case may be.

The impulses of the rampantly spreading corona disease depositing in the entire organism of the human being inevitably arise in every human being and continue to exist throughout life after a recovery, though, as a rule, remain inactive for long periods, although then, for medically inexplicable reasons, an ailment or a serious illness can unexpectedly become acute. In the process, the causes of the ailments and illnesses that occur unexpectedly even after 30, 40, 50 or more years cannot be determined by earthly physicians and scientists, because, on the one hand, the impulse depositions in the organism cannot be recognised and also cannot be researched with the given and still primitive earthly-medical and earthly-medical-technical capabilities, whereas consequently the whole of the long-term late effects cannot be defensively countered medically.

According to our research cognitions, late effects occur in several forms, so, on the one hand, ailments and illnesses ensue only after decades due to the deposited impulses, while, on the other hand, late effects may already occur after days, weeks or a few months after a recovery. A further late consequence arises in the form when ailments and medical conditions develop already during the course of the rampantly spreading corona disease, which persist and are long-lasting even after recovery or, like all consequences of corona afflictions, can persist for many months, years or a lifetime. Our very accurate Earth-wide observations and records conducted over the last 26 months – since the Corona pandemic disease in January 2019, unnoticed by earthly virologists and medics, steadily mutating became acute as the 5002nd mutation since its first appearance in the mid-1977s, and was recognised as the rampantly spreading corona disease in Wuhan in December and began spreading worldwide – indicate that 27% of all those who have fallen ill from the rampantly spreading disease and have recovered again will more or less suffer from a wide variety of slight impairments in well-being for the rest of their lives as a result of the deposited corona impulses. 19% will be sporadically afflicted for life through appearing recurrent mild to moderate ailments and medical conditions by the deposited energetic corona impulses. This, while 12% of those infected with corona currently suffer from distinctive ailments and illnesses before and after recovery, which can persist for many months, years and even for life, and which may lead to severe distress and torment, as well as to infirmity and lingering illness.

If the whole of the rampantly spreading corona disease is further analysed, then it can be recognised that the facts of the corona virus as a human-made virus moreover show that it is not stable and is consequently subject to permanent and increasingly dangerous mutations, as it can also – contrary to earthly-medical, virological and epidemiological misstatements – jump to children and animal life-forms.

Along with the dangerous mutations of the corona virus, numerous minor causal foreordination mutations also frequently come up that generate various side effects, as these have played a decisive part since the mid-1970s, that according to our cognitions, 5002 different mutations have emerged from the virus as of January 2019. These mutations can either cause a change in the structure of the virus or alter its behaviour and genetic code and form, and when they occur, they can become more aggressive and dangerous than those which they mutatingly emerged from, consequently most new mutations become more lethal.

Billy If I may interrupt you, dear friend, because I would also like to say something about this, namely what I have already recorded in our 764th conversation report on the 26th of January, namely this here, which I have copied out in order to bring it up again, since I have not found any information about this either on television nor on the radio or in any newspapers, etc. It may well be that neither our virologists nor the medical profession or doctors etc. have found anything in this respect so far, but it can also be possible that everything is being concealed and the population is deliberately not being informed, as is the case with many things. So if I may recite this excerpt:

"... Well, there are various other things, such as the fact that the new corona mutations have the characteristic of infecting a human being not only with one mutation alone, but that one can be infested by two or possibly even three of them, as well as the fact that a human being infested by one mutation and 'cured' can also be infected again by another corona mutation and fall ill. Sfath had already ascertained this, but whether this is already known to today's virologists and doctors I have not heard yet, because so far nothing has been reported on television in this regard, just as no such report has been heard on the radio and, to my knowledge, nothing has been written in newspapers either. If one considers all the wrong actions of the governments, their inability to assess the facts and the situation and the complete lack of the unavoidably necessary foresight, as well as, on the other hand, the lack of intellectum and the irresponsible actions of that part of the population that is querulous and rowdy despite the half-value orders given by the governments – even if the government orders issued are really only halfway correct and useful – then it is clearly already pre-programmed that the whole calamity will continue for a long time and will continue to claim many fatalities."

That, Ptaah, I just wanted to mention once again, since no information has appeared in any public media so far. But you can continue with your explanations now, please.

Ptaah It may certainly be good that you have brought up the information once again. But what I have to explain further is this: in the last few months, several new wild mutations have emerged from the original virus, which has been discovered in Wuhan, and which I have mentioned previously as causal foreordination mutations, which have been discovered not only by us, but also by various earthly virologists. These mutations exhibit minor or major alterations which not only show changes in terms of contagiousness, but also cause various effects in case of an infection. Depending on the geographical areas, especially in different climatic regions, such alterations develop such that new mutations, that is to say, viral variants emerge in rapid succession, which also tend to become more malignant and aggressive, resulting in new waves of infection, which dissolve the previous ups and downs of infection waves and fatalities, and thus a new spread of the rampantly spreading disease begins, however, with a new viral mutation.

What we have been able to observe since the first onset of the rampantly spreading corona disease in January 2019 in southern China and then from November 2019 in Wuhan, and what we have observed again and yet again since then, has remained so to this day, namely, that, on the one hand, comparable mutations emerge simultaneously in different areas at various locations, as, on the other hand, the various new virus mutations also develop the ability to dock with a suitable host more easily, more quickly and more effectively, to infect it and to impair its immune system to such an extent that it succumbs to the viral attack.

Another unpleasant consequence of the rampantly spreading corona disease, according to our research, is the fact that, if antibodies are formed as a result of an infection with a corona virus, these cannot be guaranteed to provide complete protection against the virus.

Antibodies therefore do not provide absolute safety and only partially protect or do not at all against further infection, namely neither by the old virus nor by a new viral mutation. According to our research, antibodies are only partially able to neutralise various corona viruses, if at all, and vaccinations can be equally futile, just as a recovery from a corona virus disease cannot be a guarantee of immunity. Our cognitions in this regard show beyond doubt that despite antibodies and vaccinations, new infections are also possible with the mutating virus.

What has now been explained, Eduard, are the facts that I want to state openly, however, there are not further statements.

Billy That is enough after all, I think. Besides, further disclosures would not be good; on the one hand, they would probably be relating to research specifics that we laypersons would not understand anyway.
