
NEWSLETTER 13 - MARCH 2026

FIGU - INTERESSENGRUPPE FÜR MISSIONSWISSEN ENGLAND

www.figu-england.co.uk

Group Update

By Yunal Berk

Salome fellow human,

Welcome to our 13th FIGU England newsletter. Another year, another exciting newsletter from us. I am sure you've read some of our previous newsletters and by now you know that FIGU England is a small community of likeminded people who join forces together once a month to discuss interesting and thought-provoking topics such as Overpopulation, the Creation-energy teaching and much more. Billy's books are in the forefront when we talk about the evolution of consciousness and the Creation-energy teaching.

Anybody with an interest in the Creation-energy teaching and FIGU can join our monthly meetings which are held once a month via Teams.

In 2024 we had our second annual group meeting which was super exciting.

We enjoyed the amazing nature at the Cotswolds in the South-West of England and used the time for reflection, healthy outdoor activity, team building, meditation, relaxation, and fellowship.

Our constantly expanding FIGU-England webpage helps us display the never ending FIGU Materials, information, and so much more.

We also have strong social media presence on Youtube, Facebook and Instagram.

In 2025 we heavily focused on the following:

1. Info Stands in the city of Cambridge
1. Promote Overpopulation awareness
2. Promote info from Billy's book – "Meditation from Clear visibility"
3. Monthly Peace Meditation
4. Regular posts on social media
5. Group Visit to Switzerland in September 2025

We had no new members joining FIGU England in 2025, but we are still 5 members strong. We receive a lot of comments and direct messages on our social media posts with lots of questions about the Plejaren, Billy, the Creation-energy teaching and endeavour to reply to everyone the best we can.

In 2026 we plan to carry on with the same tasks as 2025 and to also hold our 3rd FIGU England Annual meeting. The aim is to come together to discuss Billy Meier's writings, translations, videos, photos, news and so much more.

If you're genuinely interested like us in healthy, neutral-positive conversations regarding Creation, the Billy Meier case, overpopulation, the Creation-energy teaching, Billy's books, and all kinds of things of a consciousness, psychological, technological, philosophical and ideological nature, feel free to get in touch, we are just one click away 😊

If you managed to read all of this, I am sure we will meet you at some point in the future.

Salome, Yunal.

Watching the timeline through an English lens

By Jonathan Steven

I've been reading Billy's contact reports now for the best part of 15 years. A regular component of the reports is commentary and discussion of current events, predicted future events (events that will occur with a 100% certainty) and prophetic events (future events that may occur, but are not certain).

Since the outbreak of the Ukraine war in February 2022, I've been watching global events unfold in a way that at many times feels akin to observing a slow-motion car crash. Events which I've previously read about within the contact reports are now unfolding in real time. The prophecies and predictions within the contact reports have been given to us so we may consider and utilise them to recognise and address our erroneous behaviour and make better decisions. Yet with an astonishing stubbornness we seem determined as a society to cling to a path that has the potential to cause great harm - not just to ourselves, but to our environment too. Matters are now becoming increasingly urgent as we enter a time which could see the consequences of our actions manifest in ways which are so devastating in their scale and magnitude that they are difficult to comprehend.

Within this article I wanted to share several excerpts from the contact reports and Billy's writings that I've read over the years. Presented in the following order they provide a chronological overview of several key events or circumstances which are specifically relevant to England. The events or circumstances identified have either now occurred, are future events which are now inevitable or are events which are still not yet certain, but will occur if we do not change our ways.

Contact report 775 [Predictions: November 1947] (26th August 2021)

“Around the world in the coming decades – and well into the new third millennium – governments will also come apart at the seams. And it will soon become apparent in England, especially after the first 20 years of the third millennium, after the death of the King Prince [Note: the Duke of Edinburgh who died on 9th April 2021], among various members of the royal family, that calamities, inconsistencies, unacceptable and feuding behaviour, divorces and among themselves falsehoods and spite will arise. In the course of time, these will call into question the continuation of the family unit and the continued existence of the old royal house. In time, the rulers will become incapable of exercising a correct, right and clean government, for basically their majority will only indulge in their degenerated power and mammon, while they will increasingly restrict the peoples' freedom with new nonsensical laws, ordinances, fines, taxes and decrees etc. and drive them to suicide.”

I would consider only a minority of people currently living in England would now dispute the above excerpt. In recent years the British monarchy has been dogged by dispute and scandal, particularly regarding Prince Harry and the former Prince Andrew. In the last 10 years Britain has had six prime ministers. The latest incumbent Kier Starmer is possibly the most widely disliked prime minister in recent times, and the national perception of our politicians would also appear to be at an all-time low with accusations that they're “only in it for the money” or “lining their own pockets” commonplace. British taxation levels are at historical highs whilst the associated services those taxes are meant to deliver are perceived to be declining in value. Suicide has now become the primary cause of death for men in England under 50.

Contact report 215 [Henoah prophecies] (28th February 1987) v.237-240

“In addition, significant tensions will arise between the native citizens and immigrants from foreign countries, who as a rule also observe religious beliefs different from those of the native populace. And in the end, this will lead to severe conflicts. Hatred against strangers, foreigners and people of different religious beliefs will be the order of the day, as well as the rise of neo-Nazism, terrorism and right-extremism. Conditions similar to civil war will be in England, Wales and Northern Ireland and claim many lives.”

Immigration has undoubtedly arisen to become one of the most serious political issues currently being discussed in England. One of the key focusses of concern, as identified in the above contact report excerpt, is the potential impact of the adoption of such a large volume of people who hold differing beliefs and cultural values. Although, as of yet, I don't see (in my experience) a widespread hatred of foreigners, undoubtedly frustrations are growing amongst the population. In recent years, successive governments have promised (and been elected to office) on the platform of intending to stop immigrants from crossing the English Channel and entering the country illegally - yet each successive government has consistently failed to do so. This is fuelling anger and undermining the authority of the UK government (as mentioned earlier) as politicians are increasingly being perceived as incompetent, only acting in their own interests and not representing the wishes of the people they are meant to be serving. The outbreak of rioting in the summer of 2024 saw the first real widespread expression of anti-social unrest over the issue of immigration. I would anticipate it will not be the last as per the warning of the above contact report.

Contact report 691 (20th October 2017) Sections 29-31

“Speculators will cause a global financial and economic crisis, the like of which has never been seen before, as a result of which the entire financial economy will be in great distress and there will also be much disaster and great shortages of economic goods.

Also in the USA the population is to be expropriated as a result of the worldwide financial crisis, which will lead to vicious violence being used against the enraged and partly heavily armed population by military and police forces.

The planned ban on cash is intended to bring about the expropriation of the people, but the elite of the ruling class and capitalism will be able to 'swim' in joy and glory. And the entire financial system of the whole world is to be overturned in order to also reorganise all existing national debts of all countries, and in such a way that generally only the populations of the states are harmed. There are already secret plans in the USA and in the EU dictatorship to start a war against Russia from Germany, which is to be cited as the reason for the entire emerging world crisis. And it is clear from the outset that the blame for this war will be laid at the door of the Russians, of course completely unjustly – if it actually comes about. And if this war actually takes place, then martial law will be derived from it, which will suppress the enraged population – which will be completely dispossessed – by strong and ruthless military and police forces.”

Until recently, discussion of the likelihood of a major, global financial crash had been mostly limited to the margins of financial magazines, journals and online independent analyst conversations, however such discussion now appears to be becoming much more regular and mainstream. Such mainstream discussions are increasingly linked to and reflect a recognition of the gradual decline of the US dollar as the premier global trading currency and the consequential trend of central banks reducing their dollar reserves in favour of gold. The above contact report, written in 2017, positions the global financial crisis as highly likely, but not as a certainty.

However, with the third paragraph now having become a reality following the outbreak of the Ukraine war in 2022 I think it is reasonable to conclude that the above prophetic words can now be considered as predictive i.e. there is a 100% certainty that all the described events will occur.

Following the upcoming financial crash, we then start looking further into the future – a future which potentially takes a very dark turn for England.

FIGU Special edition – Sign of the times 35

Excerpt from the PETALE message on 19th November 1981

Soon world conflagration will glow in Europe, and every non-war day is already expensive. The time of peace is only short, for soon the world conflagration will spread, mercilessly destroying everything and beguiling life with death. Europe, the main point of the power fairs, is devoured by the mighty of the world, who desire this part of the world as a battlefield, so that their own countries may stand without destruction. On the head of Europe at all times, the mighty smash their hatchet of war, and while Europe perishes in the fire, new lust for power craves in the mighty, so also other parts of Mother Earth are subjected to their might and greed. Human beings, time is rushing to the fire, and you are already on the edge of the world fire, change the might of the mighty quickly, otherwise you will soon be sleeping in death.

Warnings are being received from higher spiritual levels of existence to our own that we are on the cusp of a devastating global war which has Europe as its primary point of focus – and time is short should we wish to avert it.

Contact report 215 [Henoah prophecies] (28th February 1987) v.171-174

“The people will be completely powerless against all this and will live through 888 days of Hell on Earth, suffering hunger and plagues which will claim even more lives than the war itself. The time will be severe as never before experienced on Earth. Ultimately, nothing can be bought or sold any longer. All provisions will be rationed; and if a human being steals even a small piece of bread, he/she will have to pay for it with his/her life. Many waters will mix with human blood and turn red, as once in the past the Nile in Egypt turned red with blood.

Should the war break out, how is it likely to start?

Prophetien and Voraussagen [Book] (23rd November 1981)

“The last decisive sign, however, for the breaking out of the third world-fire will be a political murder, which will occur in a nation of the East.

Only a short time thereafter and overnight, the enemy falls into the nations with a rapidity, that no defence will be possible anymore.

Only very few people will be able to flee. Over the majority of mankind, death and ruin comes lightning like and totally unexpected and as a surprise.”

Should this war break out then what happens to England?

FIGU Special edition – Sign of the times 35

Excerpt from the PETALE message on 7th February 1976

“It is shaken the island kingdom up north, in the Atlantic Empire. In the year of the evil, black time, when death lies ready en masse to wipe out great and small, making the Earth a shrine of the dead. The crown wavers as evil wages, as the work and deeds of cult religion, and politics also plays a role, destroying the good island shore. The crown falls and breaks, the House of Windsor is in pieces. The island kingdom is shaken; bones are now brittle and pale; royalty – it has fallen; of it only legends still swirl. (...)

In this excerpt the fate of England and the British monarchy appear to be both symbolically and literally intertwined. Should the prophesized global war break out then as a direct consequence both England and the House of Windsor are destroyed. So how does this happen?

FIGU Special edition – Sign of the times 35

Excerpt from the PETALE message on 23rd November 1981

“Part of Scotland is sinking into the sea as a gigantic tidal wave sweeps in over the sea. High as a mountain, it sweeps everything underneath it, destroying and killing, causing various islands to sink into the wild waters and part of the mainland to be swept into the sea. A horrible work of human hands, thrown into the sea as an elemental bomb before England's arts.”

We now know this is a real possibility. Russia has unveiled its Poseidon weapons system, a nuclear-powered, nuclear-armed autonomous underwater drone which, if detonated, has the capability to create a tsunami of radioactive seawater which would devastate coastlines neighbouring the blast area.

And that's not the end of it.

Prophetien and Voraussagen [Book] (20th November 1981)

“America will, due to political entanglements with Canada, be thrown into another war, and a massive attack of the red storm floods from the East of America results in the largest part of the U.S.-troops having to fight in their own country and, therefore, cannot help the hard-pressed Europe.

However, a hurrying to help would be senseless as well as impossible because, due to the use of the newest weaponry, America will be destroyed to a large part. Due to elementary-weapons (nature-catastrophe-weapons), the existence of which, up to the year 1981, only few people had knowledge. Terrible and horrible hurricanes will be released on the American continent, which will crush and destroy everything that comes into their range.

These hurricanes, however, work in conjunction with horrendous giant-fire-cylinders, which race across the land and level everything to rubble and ashes, by which all life dies. But one of these giant-hurricanes, the largest one of all, devastates and destroys everything, and what it does not destroy, mercilessly falls to the screaming inferno of the fire-cylinder following it.

This hurricane races northward, across the American continent, and then suddenly changes its course to a northeastern direction.

Sweeping across the continent and destroying everything, it then races out across to the Atlantic and, in a screaming storm tears up a flood wave of such gigantic size, that to observers it appears to be a high mountain and destructively races toward Europe - always following the hurricane also racing toward Europe.

As far as mankind can remember, nothing comparing to this disaster has ever been seen - and also will not be experienced in all the time following.

The flood races forth across England and across the North European nations, to destroy everything, to sink cities, villages, Man, animals and islands, while the hurricane itself stubbornly follows its northeastern course, however, part of it branches out and races toward Spain and the Mediterranean, to devastatingly destroy everything left and right and amidst the ocean what falls into its path, to then lose itself somewhere in the East.

Two thirds of mankind, due to this world-inferno, fall victim to death, and that will be billions.”

And then what happens in the aftermath?

Prophetien and Voraussagen [Book] (20th November 1981)

“England’s great power position will be forever destroyed when, due to the red storm flood from the East, a revolution will be brought about in England, which surpasses the German civil war (East-West) manifold in bloodiness.”

And what will the context of this civil war be?

Contact report 215 [Henoah prophecies] (28th February 1987) v.175-178

“And it will be that the fanatics of Islam will rise up against the countries of Europe and all will shake and quiver. Everything in the West will be destroyed; England will be conquered and thrown down to the lowest level of misery. And the fanatics and warriors of Islam will retain their power for a long time. However, not only Europe will be affected but ultimately all the countries and peoples of the Earth, as the great horror expands to a war that will encompass the entire world.”

Conclusions

The prophetic warnings provided through Billy’s writings, PETALE messages, contact reports, and Henoah prophecies illustrate that the threatened future of England is one of a country first devastated to the point of almost complete destruction by warfare and secondly ruled into the far future as an Islamic state. Although we may initially consider this as fantastical, we must rationally consider this potential future as plausible, particularly when we factor in the accuracy of the near-term predicted futures discussed in the contact reports which are now playing out before our eyes in real time as current events.

Billy has given us the prophetic warnings, not to frighten us, but for thoughtful and rational consideration so we may recognise and turn away from contributing erroneous behaviour and consequently make better decisions, not just for ourselves, but for society as a whole.

So, from an English perspective, what considerations do the prophetic warnings precipitate?

Firstly, warmongering and believing England (as part of the UK) can assert might over Russia is insanity as it ultimately leads to the mutual destruction of both countries. In recent years England (as part of the UK), along with key allies Germany, France and the USA, have been at the forefront of russophobia, intrigues and agitation against Russia. In addition, England (as part of the UK) has been one of the primary arms suppliers to Ukraine throughout the war. Cool heads now need to prevail along with a rational understanding that Russia cannot be bowed by coercive military might, economic might or intelligence service machinations. Continued, aggressive pursuit of that path leads to mutual armageddon. Détente (meaning peaceful, mutual co-existence) was a commonly quoted word in the 1980s. We need to rediscover its meaning by re-engaging with and recognising Russia as a strategic partner whereby we co-operate together and build a relationship together which is beneficial to both our peoples. This requires us to work diplomatically with Russia to jointly de-escalate tensions between our two countries with slow, well thought-through considered steps.

Secondly, recognising that mass migration has consequences. The concerns which are currently being voiced regarding the cultural impact upon England of adopting such large numbers of migrants are valid. Those concerns should be listened to, recognised, considered and addressed in a sensible fashion for the good of the nation. They should not be dismissed.

Evolution - Being human in the real and true sense

By Karl Beaney

All human beings will undoubtedly ask themselves philosophical questions at one time or another during their life. Questions such as “what is the point of life?”, “what came before the Big Bang?”, “is there life beyond this planet?”. For those who have read, studied or investigated Billy Meier and the teaching which he disseminates (that being the ‘Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie’ (or Creation-energy teaching in English)) these questions and the answers we deal with as a result may be more commonplace in our lives than the so-called ‘normal’ civilian or those that do not concern themselves with this type of material and subject matter, however I think most human beings ask themselves these questions frequently throughout their life.

Within the Creation-energy teaching there is frequent mention about becoming a human being in the real and true sense (Menschsein) and becoming or being a true human being (wahrer Mensch). Along with this as important aspects within the teaching which, as I see them, are connected to one another are evolution, development of ones material consciousness, learning, increasing ones knowledge, wisdom, experience, love, patience, tolerance and so on and so forth.

So, when I read what Billy is writing about when mentioning becoming a human being in the real and true sense and observe the majority of modern, present day human beings and compare the two, there seems to be a gigantic difference.

This inevitably leads me to ask myself which category I would like to be assigned to and whether I can truly regard myself as a true human being. At the moment I really can not put myself in the same category as Billy’s lofty words when talking about being a true human being.

So I find myself asking the following question:

Do I really want to become a human being in the real and true sense?

For those who study the ‘Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie’, this question and the subsequent answer may seem obvious but for me just asking this question and replying in the affirmative is, as I am finding out, only the beginning.

The ‘Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie’ teaches that the purpose of the human being’s life is to evolve, it is also taught that this process occurs over many, many lifetimes (as a different personality in each lifetime). My conclusion is that for me to evolve, the best way for me to do this, in this life time at least, is to try to become a better human being or the best version of me possible. IF I can have some success doing this I will automatically work on and acquire those important qualities concerning my evolution. The Creation-energy teaching teaches that the human being’s purpose is to evolve and thereby increase their love, knowledge, virtues, wisdom etc. etc. But I find that, as important as that is, quite vague and a general ‘blanket’ explanation. If we take this matter seriously then one has to break this blanket description down and figure out what that means for the individual in question.

If I ask myself “Do I really want to become a true human being in the real and true sense?” and I answer “yes” then the next question I ask myself is:

“Do I know WHY I want to become a human being in the real and true sense?”

Of course, I have already answered this above in the general context as taught by the teaching, that being because the teaching says so (because we are told the purpose of life is to evolve). Sorry but that is not good enough for me and stinks of a religious mindset. The teaching says “not to believe anything” and that includes the teaching itself. So if I really ask myself “WHY do I want to become a human being in the real and true sense?” I have to look inside myself and come up with a personal and well considered answer that applies to me and my personality and not just be satisfied with the ‘stock’ response.

Posing this question to oneself and finding the answer(s) takes knowledge of oneself and honesty. From a simple question that most will answer “yes” to, we have now delved into our thoughts and investigated our personality and inner self. This in turn raises even more questions because if I now know why I want to become a human being in the real and true sense I then have to ask:

“Do I know HOW I become a human being in the real and true sense?”

In order to know how I start to become a true human being I should know the reasons why I can not currently regard myself as a true human being. What qualities does a true human being have to possess to be regarded a true human being? Which of those qualities do I lack? What are the things that I currently do which a true human being wouldn't? Thus what do I need to stop doing?

Only when I deal with these questions and answers and not fool myself about my own behaviour can I start to really find out HOW I might go about becoming a human being in the real and true sense.

I have to delve within myself and have the honesty to recognise my faults, weaknesses and failures. I have to work out what things are stopping me from being the best version of me that I can possibly be. Then I have to prioritise them. What are the biggest things that I need to work on in order to gain the biggest success with my stated goal? What are the small annoyances that can wait until I have sorted out the major things. Perhaps I feel the big things are too big to tackle now so I might make a start with the small and easier to achieve things. Like this we can see that I have unearthed a huge amount of work, work that I have to do on myself by myself. No one can do this for me and this is a lot of hard work. Why? Because many things that I need to change or improve are habits or habitual behaviour and it takes an almighty, conscious effort to improve, change or eradicate habitual behaviour.

Maybe I talk too much, maybe I'm judgemental, maybe I'm impatient or unforgiving, maybe I'm a push over and people take advantage of me, maybe I am not tolerant enough, maybe I give my opinion too freely, maybe I bottle up my opinions and feel like I'm ignored, perhaps I don't listen attentively enough to others, perhaps I lack concentration, maybe I talk too loudly or too quietly, perhaps I'm egotistical, greedy or materialistic. I may have bad manners or don't speak clearly or confidently, perhaps I am lazy or selfish and so on and so forth.

Whatever the case may be if I want to become a human being in the real and true sense I need to look at myself and deal with all these things (and many more) and sort them out to the best of my ability. That is a lot of hard work and effort!

Now I truly know why many, many lifetimes are needed for a human being's evolution.

So, if striving to become a human being in the real and true sense means I have to take an honest look at myself and as a result have given myself all this hard and difficult work to do, then it is understandable why FIGU has so few members and so few students of the teaching. I mean who in their right mind would choose to spend their life making a load of effort to become a better version of themselves when one can just be lazy, watch TV and lead a so-called 'normal' life?

Well, one either recognises that the universe and all life is directed towards evolution by means of striving for that which is higher or one just makes the decision to have an easy, care free life, or perhaps something somewhere in between these two extremes. Regardless once one becomes inquisitive and searches for answers, which amounts to striving, and arrives at a clear answer there is no longer a choice because reality has been recognised and thereby knowledge has been gained.

Besides, when one makes an effort and realises or experiences that something useful has been gained from this effort (even if mistakes and/or failures are inevitably made) it incentivises the human being to carry on making an effort. So instead of looking at dedicating oneself to hard and difficult work trying to become a human being in the real and true sense, one looks at that which can be gained, one enjoys setting oneself a challenge and one enjoys the progress made or the goals achieved.

“Nothing comes from nothing.”

“One reaps whatever one sows.”

There is a sign near the main door at the SSSC and when translated says something like:
 “giver uppers never win, winners never give up.”

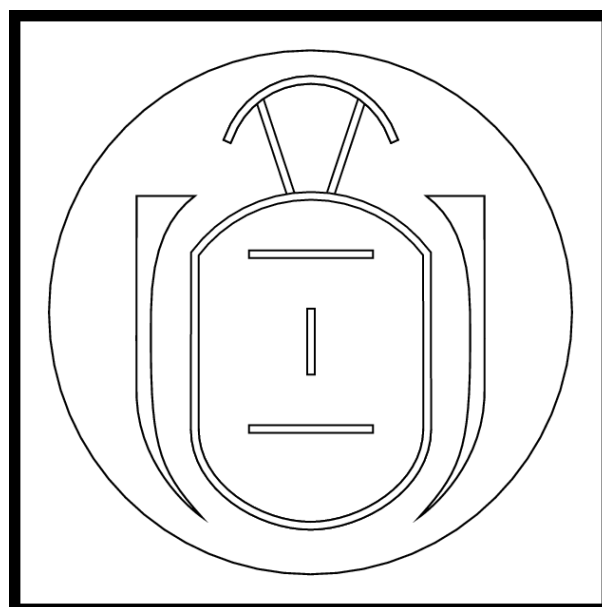

I very much like these old, simple yet packed full of truth sayings.

The longer the human being lives, all the more reasons he/she has to be thankful, to learn and - to feel ashamed.

A human being, who is not strong, autonomous, honest, hard-working, modest, self-conscious, respectful, knowing and wise as well as unyielding, loving and fair, will always be dragged down into misery and ruin by the mass of the riff raff/rabble/mob.

12.6.1990, 02.02 Billy

Mensch Symbol

Human Being symbol

Various excerpts from Billy's book:

Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie ‹Lehre der Wahrheit, Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie, Lehre der Lebens›

Pages 146-149

Die Neutralität der Gedanken, bezüglich deren Anwendung und des Verstehens des Wertes der Schöpfungsenergielehre, ist jedoch nicht leicht zu erarbeiten, denn alles wirklich zu verstehen und anzuwenden erfordert sehr viel mehr als nur ‹ich weiss schon›. Wahrlich bedarf das effective Verstehen der Lehre einer Sachlichkeit, die bewusst und neutral durch nüchterne, unbeeinflusste, phantasielose, klare und bewusste Gedanken zu erarbeiten ist. Dies aber ist nicht leicht und bedarf gewisser Erkenntnisse, die nicht einfach aus der Luft gegriffen werden können, weil sie wirklich vom Menschen persönlich und bewusst zu durchdenken und zu erlernen und vor allem auch zu verstehen sind.

Die Schöpfungsenergielehre ist nicht einfach eine Lehre, bei der selbst konkret und bewusst zu denken ist, denn durch die Gedanken sollen einerseits ein Wissen als auch ein Können aufgebaut werden, wie es jeder Lehre eigentlich eigen zu sein hat. Die Lehre ist jedoch nicht nur auf die Wichtigkeit eigener Entscheidungen und deren Anwendung sowie auf das persönliche Handeln bezogen, sondern auf alles, was von ganz besonderer und massgebender Bedeutung für die Lebensführung ist...

The neutrality of the thoughts, regarding their use and the understanding of the value of the Creation-energy teaching, is however not easy to create, for to really understand and to use everything requires very much more than only ‹I know already/I already know›. Truly the effective understanding of the teaching requires an objectivity, which is to be created consciously and neutrally by means of sober/rational/plain/unemotional, uninfluenced, unfantastical (without fantasy/imagination), clear and conscious thoughts. But this is not easy and requires certain cognitions, which are not able to be simply plucked out of thin air because they really are to be, personally and consciously by human beings, thought-through and learned and above all understood.

The Creation-energy teaching is not simply a teaching, in which oneself is to think concretely and consciously, for knowledge and ability shall be built up by means of the thoughts, as it actually has to be with any teaching. The teaching however is not only related to the importance of one's own decisions and their use and to the personal affairs, rather to everything, that is of quite particular and decisive importance for the life-conduct...

...

Die Erkenntnis um die Schöpfungsenergie, wie besonders das Erlernen und Anwenden bezüglich derselben, bedarf eines lebenslang Vorgangs des ständigen Bemühens des wirklichen und bewussten Lernens. Die ‹Lehre der Wahrheit, Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie, Lehre des Lebens›, wie diese grundsätzlich seit alters her im gesamten Umfang genannt ist, erfordert ein während des ganzen Lebens fortdauerndes und bewusstes Lernen, um sich nicht nur bezüglich der Schöpfungsenergielehre wissensmässig zu bilden, sondern diese im Leben und Dasein auch wirklich umzusetzen und richtig anzuwenden. Umzusetzen und auch richtig anzuwenden aber bedeutet, dass die Lehre derart vom Menschen selbst, und zwar umfänglich in ihren Werten, in und an sich selbst zur Anwendung gebracht wird, dass sich der Mensch zum wirklichen Menschen entwickeln soll, und es auch tatsächlich wird, wenn er sich willentlich darum bemüht. Und dies soll dadurch erfolgen, indem er die Schöpfungsenergielehre in ihrem Werten lernt, versteht, erfasst, in die Wirklichkeit umsetzt und das Erlernte dazu benutzt, um das eigene Denken zu fördern, selbstdenkend waldurchdachte und richtige Entscheidungen zu treffen und danach zu handeln. Das bedingt auch, das eigene und richtige Lebenseinstellung und Lebensführung, wie auch das gesamte gerechte Verhalten gegenüber allem Existenten zu wahren und allzeit bemüht zu sein, auch explizit alle diesbezüglichen Werte zu schätzen.

Die Schöpfungsenergielehre zu erlernen und deren Werte rundum überall zur Geltung zu bringen, wie aber auch in der Umwelt gegenüber allem Leben und aller Existenz überhaupt zur Anwendung zu bringen, ist wahrlich nicht leicht, und wie schon gesagt, ein lebenslanger Prozess. Dieser ist ausserdem derart, dass der Mensch sich selbst zu kontrollieren und sich zu sagen hat, was richtig und was falsch ist, was zu verantworten ist und was nicht verantwortet werden kann...

The cognisance about the Creation-energy, particularly the learning and use thereof, requires a life-long process of the constant effort of the real and conscious learning. The ‹teaching of the truth, teaching of the Creation-energy, teaching of the life›, as this has fundamentally been called since time immemorial in the entire extent, requires a continuing and conscious learning during the entire life in order to form itself not only regarding the Creation-energy teaching knowledge-based, rather to also really implement and rightly use this in the life and existence. But to implement and also to rightly use means that the teaching is brought to use, and indeed extensively in its values, by the human being himself/herself in and of himself/herself so that the human being shall develop himself/herself into a real human being, and also actually becomes it, if he/she willingly makes an effort with it. And this shall occur therethrough in that he/she learns, understands, comprehends and implements into reality the Creation-energy teaching in its values and uses that which has been learned in order to further one's own thinking, to self-thinkingly make well thought-through and right decisions and act accordingly. That also requires maintaining one's own life-behaviour, one's own character-characteristics, one's own and right life-attitude and life-conduct, as well as the entire fair behaviour towards all (things) existing and to strive at all times to explicitly protect all values hereof.

To learn the Creation-energy teaching and to bring its value to effect all around, but also to use it in the environment towards all life and to all that exists generally, is truly not easy, and, as already said, a life-long process. This is also so, that the human being has to control himself/herself and has to say to himself/herself what is right and false, what to take responsibility for and what can not be taken responsibility for...

...

Die Schöpfungsenergielehre zu erlernen und sie auch bewusst anzuwenden beziehungsweise umzusetzen bezüglich sich selbst und gegenüber aller Existenz rundum, ist wahrlich nicht leicht. Ausserdem bedarf sie vielfachen Wissens, das mühsam erarbeitet, zur Kenntnis genommen, aufgearbeitet und in Tat umzusetzen ist. Die Lehre ist folgendem sehr weitläufig und weist viele Faktoren auf, die dem Menschen unbekannt sind, folglich er nicht weiss, dass diese zum Erlernen des wahren Menschseins gehören. So ist zum wichtigsten Bestandteil der wahren und korrekten Lebensführung das Selbstdenken vonnöten, was bedeutet, dass der Mensch selbst gesunde, bewusste und rechtschaffene Gedanken hegen und pflegen, nicht jedoch einem Glauben hörig sein, wie er auch nicht andere Menschen für sichtenden, entscheiden und handeln lassen soll...

To learn the Creation-energy teaching and to also consciously use it regarding implementing it to oneself and towards all in existence all around, truly is not easy. It also requires all sorts of knowledge, which has to be arduously created towards cognisance, worked on/developed and put into practice. Hence the teaching is very extensive and shows many factors, which are unknown to the human being, consequently he/she does not know that this belongs to the learning of the true being human in the real and true sense. The self-thinking is necessary for the most important constituent part of the true and correct life-conduct, that the human being himself/herself nourishes and cherishes healthy, conscious and righteous thoughts, however not fall in bondage to a belief, (just) as he/she shall not allow other human beings to think, decide and act for himself/herself...

...

Zum Erlernen der wahren Schöpfungsenergielehre resp. der «Lehre der Wahrheit, Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie, Lehre des Lebens» ist es unumgänglich und also notwendig, dass viele verschiedene Sparten vieler Wissensgebiete angesprochen werden, die der Mensch infolge seines Unwissens und seines Nichtverstehens hinsichtlich der wahren Lebensführung nicht in direkten Zusammenhang mit der Lehre bringt. Das jedoch entspricht einer Fehlannahme, denn die Lehre greift grundsätzlich in alles und jedes des Lebens ein, folglich sich das eine und das andere von Zusammenhängen ergibt, die eben in Erscheinung treten, die aber erst verstanden und nachvollzogen werden können, wenn das Erlernte als Wirkung in Erscheinung tritt.

Wenn erstlich das zu Erlernende nicht zusammengehörig oder aus dem Konzept gerissen erscheint, dann kann dies durch das Nichtverstehen der studierenden Person erst durch ein späteres Wirken des Erlernten als richtig erkannt werden. Es soll bis dahin einfach als Information hingenommen und folglich nicht weiter darüber nachgedacht werden. Es wird von alters her schon gesagt: «Kommt Zeit, kommt Rat». So wird sich auch ergeben, dass mit der Zeit das Verständnis aufkommt und alles verstanden wird, dies aber erst dann, wenn die Wirkung des Gelernten Wirklichkeit wird.

For learning the true Creation-energy teaching, respectively the «teaching of the truth, teaching of the Creation-energy, teaching of the life», it is unavoidable and is also necessary that many different areas of many knowledge-realms are addressed, which the human being in the wake of his/her unknowledge and his/her ununderstanding regarding the true life-conduct does not bring into direct connection with the teaching. That however corresponds to a misconception, for the teaching fundamentally impinges on each and everything of/in the life, consequently the one (thing) and the other (thing) arises from connections, which simply appear, but which can only be understood and logically followed if/when that which has been learned appears as an effect.

If at first that which is to be learned does not appear related or out of concept, then this can only be recognised as right by the person studying through a later effect of the learning. Up to then it shall simply be accepted as information and consequently not be thought about further. Since time immemorial it has been said <time will tell>. So it will also result in the fact that with time the understanding appears and everything is understood, but this only when the effect of that which has been learned becomes reality.

Info Stand 2026

Dates: 30/5/25, 27/6/26 & 25/7/26

Time: 10.00-16.00

Location: Guildhall Hall, Market Square, Cambridge, CB2 3QJ